SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—The Chronicle onlishes a bair column editorial the partial drift of which is that all the transcontinental roads will eventually make their virtual terminus at Han Francisco. Says this journal. Two items of rail road news recently received from the east are eminently suggestive. One is that the Union Pacific is seeking to get a line of its own from Council Bluffs to Jhicago, the other is that the Canadian Pacific desires and will probably obtain the control of the Boston & Maioe railroad for the sake of railroad business indicate. Simply and solely that these rathroad companies are looking alread that these rathroad companies are looking alread that these rathroad companies are looking alread that they believe in California and the Pacific coast generally and intend to pid for the through trailic the of the Luion Pacific's applied California of the Luion Pacific's applied California on cutlet from Louncil Bluffs to Chicago the odd to rail proceeds to say that with this effected it is not improvable that the road would pusit west from connecting a lass made that the Canadian Pacific will in time make an effort to find or build some line that will give it through connection with San Francisco.

AN INTERESTING INTERNATION L. QUESTION.

A new thase of the discussion regarding the debt o Viginia is beginning to attract general attention. A large portion of the debt is held by Englishmen, who are sufferers by the "realjuster" policy. There are signs that Extand is preparing to ask our government to assume the indebtedness of Virginia to English bootholders, on the ground that it was through the action of the United States in dismembering the old state of Virginia that flairs got into their present chape. The whole debt amounts to $45,000,000. It was incurred aimost wholly hafore the rebellion. During the rebellion the state of West Virginte, embraning one-third of the area, population and whatth of the criginal state, was created. After the rebellion had been represented and the citizent of Virginia had been suppressed and the state of Virginia had been restored to its old relations with the Union, the debt rested upon a commonworth whose terri-torial limits had been cutalised by one-third, and population and taxable properly in like proportion; for West Virginia refused to assume proportion; for west virginia ratused to assume any portion of the debt, and Virginia claimed that inasmuch as she had blen stripped of one-third of her resources, the dobt left wholly to her was insequiable and loppressive. Hence arose in Virglain the "readjuster" party, whose Dionosition was that in the discussioness Virglaia was not justly liable for the whole debt; and, as West Virginia had been asked to assume one-third of it and had refused, the only thing left to be done was to repudiate one-third part of it. Virginia therefore proposed a settlement with her creditors, or "readjustment" of the debt, substantially on this leasts. To this purpose she adheres. Creditors have sudeavered to blain relief through the United States courts. but there appears to be no way of enforcing the ing the English bondholders, will make one more effort before the legislature at Richmond, and then, should it fall, as it almost certainly will, the subject will be pressed for settlement up on the government at Washington. In other words, the United States will be urged to as-

membering the original state.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York B'orld sore it is believed that this phase of the question will soon become the subject of diplomulic correspondence between Great Britain and the United States. The concussion, according to this dispatch, is that "innsmuch as prefite means have utterly falled to produce satisfies." factory results, the best proposition produced from the Virginia legislature poing that scaling the debt from sixty to sixty-live per cent, and the position assumed by the West Virginia log-islature amounting to absolute repudiation, forcible representations are contemplated by the British government conditioned upon the suc-cess of Sir Edward Thornton with the legislat-orn at Richmond. The alternative is believed to be that the Sallebury government contemplates a formal demand, that our national gov-

same the disputed debt, on the ground that the contention is the result of its own action in dis-plates a formal demand that our national government assume the debt of Virginia and of its late integral territory, West Virginia."

Should this provo true the queetion will be one of great interest and importance. Simple statement of the case recalls the position taken by Mr. Blaire, in his "Ewenly Years of Congress," that our government is under morel obligations to adjust this debt queetion. But it is not accombining a majority of the records of the not probable that a majority of the people of the United States would assent to this proposition, which hitherto has been derided and decounced as fone of Bialine's decoagogical tricks. Yet it would be a curious thing if the view of the case as presented by Blaine's should force itself prominently upon the attention of the country. and demand a decision, one way or the other. It would create a lively stir in our politics.

W. Carry Johnson desires to know the difference between a railroad company, making it a readition of a labor contract with its employes that they must abstain from the use of in xicaling liquors, and the enforcement of total abstinence under pain of distranchisement against the whole body of citizine by the state. Mr. Johnson pars:

In a whole body of citzite by the state. Mr. Johnson segi:

If this is a good rule to apply to the employes of a railroad company, why is it not a good one for all governments, national, state, county and municipal, to apply to their employes and officials? And if so, is it not the duty of the state to remove as for as it can everything which depraves the citziens and renders them is estamphed of rendering service when needed? If alcoholm beverages render the citizen unfit for the less disabilities of bis duty, owed to the state, may be not all one of the state require and connect the citzen to abstain, or deny lim in privileges of citzienshio, just as the railroad companies deny employment to people the will not abstain. If not why not?

It ought not to require inuch reflection to convince Mr. Johnson that to exact total abstinence of employee subject to the peculiar dangers and responsibilities of railroad service, which is each.

gers and responsibilities of railroad service, which involve the care of life and property, is one thing, and to exact tetral abstinence of menemal loyed in a class of labor that involved no more care of life and property than is incombent upon a clerk, a member of the legislature, a goal-ger, a coala gardener, a cook, a tall at, or a shoomaker, is quite enother thing. It the one case the enta-oralizery nature of the responsibility and the denotrous consequences attending arm a mo-mentary releasation of rigitance would justify no extraordinary condition it would be entirely unwarrantable to exact in another each. Same employments demand an eterpal vigil too that is the price of their proper and safe part repeats and safe. is the price of their proper an teafs participance, and some do not. In suggestion for the state identical in danger and companishing for the ceaseless care of the and thoperagit whals be reasonable to insert such a cloud from in For contract which he another does wight to a nearer Would Mr. Johnson wish to put the chapter of the U.S. senate and all the division that it is in the contract to the contract of States under both kind to a manifestical part in-chaplain hieroscal to the conject of the arbodi-nates of the treature becoming drunk for duty. It is not the duty of the state to remove every-It is not the duty of the state to remove everything that may possibly deprecise the value of their service may make deprecise the value of their service may make than it is the duty of the state to forbid a much the possession of a penknife, because he can out the possession of a penknife, because he can out his throat with it, or neurdor his neighbor, or to take away his suspenders and his pocket band-kerchief bet he hand binnelf to a lamp post. It is the duty of the state to exact competent service and to be content with no other, and to discharge any servant who for any reason may be unable or unwilling to do his lauty, but it is not the state's duty at all to exact total abstinement consider submining to do insignity, but it is not the stake's duty at all to expet total abstinence of its servants except in the impecial, extraordinary service we have cited. It is the right of the state, as it is of the individual, to make a contract for labor involving special conditions, but to pre-cribe certain conditions in a specific contract for labor is one-thing and to pass a general law compelling All citizens to be total abstances, because some citizens are druckerds, on the penalty of disfranchisement, is another thing. This proposition must have originally been born in bediann. A contract for labor, which a man may accept or not, without any civil penalty, has not the slightest identity with the right of the state to determine for its citizens what they shall eat, drink or wear.

Air. Johnson's proposed law is not a business contract for labor to be accepted or rejected without loss of civil rights or personal liberty: it is simply an act of pure despoissm that is worthy of the middle ages, but is a rank shangtify under a free government. The state educates the state's duty at all to exact total abstines worthy of the middle ages, but is a rank absurdity under a free government. The state educates the citizen in the rudiments of good citizenship; it punishes him for any violation of how and order, but it does not undertake to dictate his drink, his diet, or his dress under a general law, which applies not only to those who are not in service of the state but to those who are not in its service; to those who are sober and competent and same citizens as well as to those who tent and same cit: zene as well as to those who are instricte, insane and incompetent. It would be the legal right of the state in any labor contract to exact total abstinance as a condition of employment, but in very n.any kinds of labor is would be an absurd, and impracticable condition; but the people of the state do not stand to the state in the same relation that the Israelites did to Pharach; they are not he siaves or bond-men of the state, and until they are then are not likely to submit under general law to a sur-render of personal liberty without even the quid proque of a specific business (contract and yet to subject to distranchisement when they spure such desputic conditions of citizonship. The

the United States in an enormous volume. The arrivers at New York during April averaged nearly two thousand per day or enough in the menth to p points a city as large as Portland with all her suborbs and Astoria added. There is no precedent for this incoming, exceeding as t does the great immigration of 1882. Cau the United States, large as it is, absorb this vast quantity of raw material and not suffer from the does? This question arises naturally, and in view of the accimistic movement throughout the Presbyterian church, to be the fluest on the Pacific coast, is a notable event. The proposed building would be an ornament to any city in America. It will be a benefit to Portland not only as a thing of beauty, but as an object in orn) as a constant teste.
